

Special Consideration Policy and Procedure for Financial Capability Qualifications

The London Institute of Banking & Finance defines extenuating circumstances as circumstances, normally exceptional and outside the control of the student, which happen unexpectedly on or before an assessment and have prevented the student from performing in an assessment at the level expected or required of them. This document details the policy and procedure for all Financial Capability qualifications.

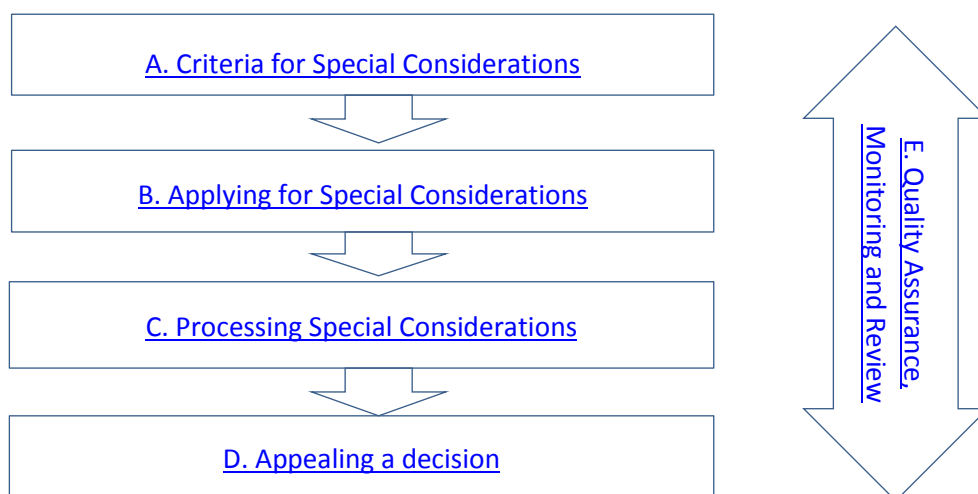

Special consideration is the term used when The London Institute of Banking & Finance considers cases of extenuating circumstances.

Summary of Policy

The London Institute of Banking & Finance is committed to the fair treatment of all of its students during the assessment process. The Special Considerations Policy has been designed to ensure that The London Institute of Banking & Finance

- provides an assessment and awarding system that supports equality and fairness to its students; and
- maintains the integrity and security of the assessment process.

The Special Considerations Policy applies to students who believe they have been disadvantaged during, or before, an assessment because of an injury, illness or other unforeseen temporary circumstances beyond their control that may have adversely affected their performance in one or more assessments. The London Institute of Banking & Finance recognises that, as a result of such circumstances, some students may not be able to demonstrate their true level of ability during an assessment.
